Guys don't have THAT many options when it comes to getting dressed, the way girls do. So the easiest way for us to look dope is to throw on a fresh graphic tee and jeans and a nice pair of kicks and maybe a watch or necklace. I'm extremely picky when it comes to my tee's but I came across a line via Twitter that made me want to order one of everything. Nick Every is a NYC based company that is operating online only for right now but the designs are fresh as hell and have even been featured in Fab's video for 'Throw It In The Bag' and was worn by DJ Clue.

The new line is so dope with these American Flag tee's and the 'Kiss My Ass' tee both fresh as hell. Check out a couple of designs below and if you like what you see, visit their online store here and tell all your friends because small, dope lines like this need mad support and the tee's won't break the bank, ya dig? Make sure you DON'T sleep on this, because when this blows up, you're gonna wish you were rockin' these tee's before everyone else was.
